WHAT CITIZENS THINK OF IT

The Extraordinary Powers Conferred Upon the Water Board.

NOT ONE APPROVES IT

The Consensus of Opinion Is That Councils Acted Unwisely in Transferring to the Water Commissioners Control of a Department That Should be Controlled by These Bodies Alone—The Interviews.

Below will be found the second of the series of interviews with citizens and tax-payers of Norfolk, based upon the action of Councils in conferring extraordinary powers upon the Board of Water Commissioners:

MR. M. L. T. DAVIS.
"The scope of the ordinance of February 7, 1899, amending an ordinance designating the powers and duties of the Water Board looks entirely too broad. Particularly is this true if it can be construed that the Water Board has the power under the ordinance in question to put in water meters, or to go to such extremes, which evidently the Councils did not mean at the time it was passed. The people who have been paying for water in a double form—that is, a tax to support the water works and a quarterly bill for what is consumed—should, I think, have a say on this question and all matters pertaining thereto. In a growing city, where the revenues from water are increasing all the time, we need but to be economical in order to make our taxes to be a paying investment, it seems to me."

MR. J. SYDNEY SMITH.
"You ask: 'Should the Board of Water Commissioners be allowed as much authority as it has been granted by the City Councils?' Upon a careful consideration of the matter I do not think it likely that any one would be likely to take the position that such great powers should be allowed this board, and at the same time denied to all other boards, some of which are quite as important. In saying this, I am not intended to reflect on the said board or the members composing it; but from my understanding of the city charter, the expenditure of the money belonging to the citizens and raised from taxation is made the special duty and care of the City Councils, and the expenditure of the money is carefully guarded, so that the money may be properly expended. That being the case, it would seem that if the matter were tested, it would be found that the City Councils have no power to divest themselves of this duty and give to a board the right to expend money without any report to the Councils as to said expenditures. In saying this, I am not intended to reflect on the said board
